Ocean Freight

Ocean freight / Sea freight is the most frequently used global mode of transport for importers & exporters; accounting for 90% of all commodities shipped worldwide. Through ocean, we can move various dimension, size, weight & types of cargoes, though transits are longer comparably, but it is one of the most opt mode of global transportation.

Fast Logistics supports large corporates in moving cargoes across globe and manages sophisticated supply chains.

Airfreight

Airfreight, often known as air cargo, allows things to be transported fast by air. Air cargo shipping has always had a high cost-to-weight ratio, despite the fact that it is the quickest means to carry products globally.

We offer a comprehensive range of air logistics solutions as an IATA agent for all major airlines. Because we recognize that airfreight is a premium & expensive service, our commitment to speedy transit and constant contact, as well as the flexibility to seize cost-cutting opportunities such as consolidation and intermodal alternatives.
